The Asian Blending facility in Jurong Port Road Singapore is the largest sugar provider and trader in Singapore. The sugar blending facility itself was an upgrade for a dilapidated warehouse covering an area of over 60,000ft comprising offices, warehouse, clean rooms and a specialist sugar blending and mixing plant. The project timeline was an aggressive 6 months build. Merx provided essential and fundamental direction that the project was lacking from the design consultants in terms of:

- Finalising the client brief
- Setting up and agreeing the procurement strategy
- Defining Master Programme & Critical Path
- Interface with client direct suppliers and contractors
- Design Management and Authority Approvals schedules
- Managing Cost and Contracts formally (LDs, Payment Terms, Local Codes)
